

Science fair Logbook

January 22, 2021

First day..

I started by making my hypothesis and started making my research on how it works.

January 29 2021

I started by testing out the potato clock and then researching why it works and making a fun facts section.

February 1 2021

I started by making my conclusion after I jotted what the process is.

February 7

I started by finishing up my project and editing, then did my video.
